This week-

Big week in the futures market with emphasis on the U.S. corn crop after the ProFarmer Tour yield estimates are 7.5 bpa lower than the August WASDE report. The corn's good to excellent rating also decreased again this week. The hot ticket item is the ongoing conflict between Russia and Ukraine and Putin's emphasis that no peace talks will be had. This has boosted wheat and corn futures throughout the week. The beans have been dragged up as well with China continuing to buy nearby beans out of the U.S. The weather is still hot across the United States with the Midwest forecasting dry for the next 6-10 days while the South will continue to see some scattered storms. Call us to talk old crop, new crop, and bin bushels!

Last week-

Markets firmed up substantially this week after parts of the Midwest from Iowa to Ohio got 5-10 inches of rain last weekend. This reduced the weekly crop good/excellent rating again for both corn and beans. The Pro Farmer crop tour also started this week and so far showing Nebraska corn with the lowest ear count in 10 years. Soybeans are also showing variable pods and some disease issues. Additional market support coming from European demand as well as China's consistent bean buying out of the Gulf and PNW. September corn futures will roll late next week to the December with a spread steady around 25c. Fuel is also back to levels we haven't seen since late March 2026, making freight prices fluctuate for everyone. Call us to talk harvest or bin bushels today!

*Let's discuss a plan for your bin bushels. Give us a call we can pick up grain at your bins.

FGT average rebate over 56 years is .121 per bushel.
